The State Needs to Supply its own Housing — to save Money

Lorcan Sirr

Technological University Dublin, lorcan.sirr@tudublin.ie

Follow this and additional works at: https://arrow.tudublin.ie/beschrecmed

Part of the Urban, Community and Regional Planning Commons, and the Urban Studies and Planning Commons

Recommended Citation

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial-Share Alike 3.0 License
The long view

TURKS AND CAICOS The last word in barefoot luxury. Villa Lagoona, built by the world’s top yacht designers, is fully Equipped with 26m infinity pools, a 10-seater dining area and a state-of-the-art gym.

MAURITIUS The seven; three-bedroom homes for sale in Mauritius are the A-list hangout for celebrities. The 300-acre resort is set on a hillside, with a spa, indoor and outdoor pools, and a private beach.

BRAZIL Any visitor to the city of Florianopolis, Brazil, should check out Jurere, in the south of the country. The main attraction is the Indian Ocean, with its warm waters and white sand beaches.

SOUTH AFRICA For the ultimate in barefoot luxury, Villa Sirona, located on the coast, offers stunning views of the ocean and beachfront properties. The villa has five bedrooms, a pool, and a living area with plenty of natural light.

AUSTRALIA For those who want to be closer to nature, the Blue Mountains is an excellent option. The area offers beautiful scenery, hiking trails, and a variety of activities.

ARGENTINA The vineyard in the Uco Valley, the Vines Resort & Spa, sits on a hill overlooking the city. The resort offers a spa, a pool, and a variety of activities, including wine tastings.

MAKING THE MOVE

LONDON To stimulate development, the government has introduced a number of measures, including supplying affordable housing and lifting bank lending ratios for primary residence. These measures have led to an increasing backlog of demand, but whether you believe it is the responsibility of the state to house people, lots of people? The answer to this question now is: can the state afford to get involved in housing people, lots of people. We have to ask ourselves:

- If the state is not to have a role, why should the state be involved in providing housing?
- If the state is to have a role, what should its role be?

As Rome burned behind him, the state has little control over the housing market. The long-term solution may be to provide affordable housing and lift bank lending ratios. But whether you believe it is the responsibility of the state to house people, lots of people? The answer to this question now is: can the state afford to get involved in housing people, lots of people. We have to ask ourselves:

- If the state is not to have a role, why should the state be involved in providing housing?
- If the state is to have a role, what should its role be?

As Rome burned behind him, the state has little control over the housing market. The long-term solution may be to provide affordable housing and lift bank lending ratios. But whether you believe it is the responsibility of the state to house people, lots of people? The answer to this question now is: can the state afford to get involved in housing people, lots of people. We have to ask ourselves:

- If the state is not to have a role, why should the state be involved in providing housing?
- If the state is to have a role, what should its role be?

As Rome burned behind him, the state has little control over the housing market. The long-term solution may be to provide affordable housing and lift bank lending ratios. But whether you believe it is the responsibility of the state to house people, lots of people? The answer to this question now is: can the state afford to get involved in housing people, lots of people. We have to ask ourselves:

- If the state is not to have a role, why should the state be involved in providing housing?
- If the state is to have a role, what should its role be?

As Rome burned behind him, the state has little control over the housing market. The long-term solution may be to provide affordable housing and lift bank lending ratios. But whether you believe it is the responsibility of the state to house people, lots of people? The answer to this question now is: can the state afford to get involved in housing people, lots of people. We have to ask ourselves:

- If the state is not to have a role, why should the state be involved in providing housing?
- If the state is to have a role, what should its role be?