2016-11-27

You’ll Like the Tenancies bill and Poppintree Build, but not a lot

Lorcan Sirr
Technological University Dublin, lorcan.sirr@tudublin.ie

Follow this and additional works at: https://arrow.tudublin.ie/beschrecmed

Part of the Urban, Community and Regional Planning Commons, and the Urban Studies and Planning Commons

Recommended Citation
Sirr, L. (2016) You’ll like the tenancies bill and Poppintree build, but not a lot. The Sunday Times
27.11.2016. doi:10.21427/32wv-gw60

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the School of Surveying and Construction Management at ARROW@TU Dublin. It has been accepted for inclusion in Media by an authorized administrator of ARROW@TU Dublin. For more information, please contact yvonne.desmond@tudublin.ie, arrow.admin@tudublin.ie, brian.widdis@tudublin.ie.

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons
Attribution-Noncommercial-Share Alike 3.0 License
I t’s a know a gardener and it’s amazing the bandwidth of their interests. All one needs is a basic understanding of the garden you want to create and then narrow the search to a particular type of garden with specific needs. It’s not as daunting as it seems. With a bit of research, you can find a garden that suits your needs perfectly.

The most important thing is to remember that you must choose the garden that you like, not the one that is popular or trendy. If you are unsure, ask around and get feedback from other gardeners. You may also want to consult a professional garden designer to help you with your selection.

Once you’ve chosen your garden type, you can move on to the next step: selecting the plants. The selection process can be overwhelming, but it’s important to consider the climate, soil type, and sunlight availability in your garden. You can also consult a local garden center or nursery for recommendations.

Remember that the garden you choose should be an extension of your personality and lifestyle. It’s important to have a garden that reflects your personal style and provides a sense of relaxation and tranquility. So, take your time and enjoy the process. Gardening is a rewarding hobby that can bring joy and fulfillment.

The most important thing is to remember that you must choose the garden that you like, not the one that is popular or trendy. If you are unsure, ask around and get feedback from other gardeners. You may also want to consult a professional garden designer to help you with your selection.

Once you’ve chosen your garden type, you can move on to the next step: selecting the plants. The selection process can be overwhelming, but it’s important to consider the climate, soil type, and sunlight availability in your garden. You can also consult a local garden center or nursery for recommendations.

Remember that the garden you choose should be an extension of your personality and lifestyle. It’s important to have a garden that reflects your personal style and provides a sense of relaxation and tranquility. So, take your time and enjoy the process. Gardening is a rewarding hobby that can bring joy and fulfillment.

The most important thing is to remember that you must choose the garden that you like, not the one that is popular or trendy. If you are unsure, ask around and get feedback from other gardeners. You may also want to consult a professional garden designer to help you with your selection.

Once you’ve chosen your garden type, you can move on to the next step: selecting the plants. The selection process can be overwhelming, but it’s important to consider the climate, soil type, and sunlight availability in your garden. You can also consult a local garden center or nursery for recommendations.

Remember that the garden you choose should be an extension of your personality and lifestyle. It’s important to have a garden that reflects your personal style and provides a sense of relaxation and tranquility. So, take your time and enjoy the process. Gardening is a rewarding hobby that can bring joy and fulfillment.