You’ll Like the Tenancies bill and Poppintree Build, but not a lot

Lorcan Sirr
Technological University Dublin, lorcan.sirr@tudublin.ie

Follow this and additional works at: https://arrow.tudublin.ie/beschrecmed

Part of the Urban, Community and Regional Planning Commons, and the Urban Studies and Planning Commons

Recommended Citation
Sirr, L. (2016) You’ll like the tenancies bill and Poppintree build, but not a lot. The Sunday Times 27.11.2016.

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial-Share Alike 3.0 License.
I went to a garden and am wondering whether to give it to someone as a gift. I feel that much of gardening is simply manual labour, and for that reason the gift should be something that is easy to use, doesn’t require much skill, and will allow me to enjoy the fruits of my labour. I have therefore devised a list of avoids that are included on the list below:

1. Novel, cute or funny items, and ones that seem grumpy.
3. Japanese company Niwaki makes a range of hand tools.
4. Japanese company Teum makes a range of hand tools.
5. For apartment-dwelling gardeners, houseplants will keep their green fingers busy. There are loads of options, including orchids, succulents, and ferns. For example, a Boston fern (€14.99, notonthehighstreet.com).

When you have them all done, you should have a garden that is easy to use, doesn’t require much skill, and will allow you to enjoy the fruits of your labour. I have therefore devised a list of avoids that are included on the list below:

1. Novel, cute or funny items, and ones that seem grumpy.
3. Japanese company Niwaki makes a range of hand tools.
4. Japanese company Teum makes a range of hand tools.
5. For apartment-dwelling gardeners, houseplants will keep their green fingers busy. There are loads of options, including orchids, succulents, and ferns. For example, a Boston fern (€14.99, notonthehighstreet.com).

The Irish Design Shop in Drury Street, Dublin 2, stocks circular ceramic pots and saucers in warm terracotta with a grey glaze, handmade by local artists and available in three sizes, from €30 to €50. Smaller pots are also available (€17). The Irish Design Shop in Drury Street, Dublin 2, stocks circular ceramic pots and saucers in warm terracotta with a grey glaze, handmade by local artists and available in three sizes, from €30 to €50. Smaller pots are also available (€17).